The Humane Society’s mission is to advance the welfare of animals and promote positive relationships between animals and people.
A LOOK BEHIND THE NUMBERS
A Message from Chad Osvog, 2016 Board President

On behalf of the Board of Directors, I am pleased to present our 2016 Annual Report, which celebrates the thousands of animals, community pet owners, and pet seekers that have benefited from Humane Society programs.

Annual reports are all about the numbers. Look behind the numbers, and you will find the individual animals whose lives have been transformed by the work of the Humane Society. In 2016, the numbers represent positive outcomes for more than nine of every 10 pets entering the shelter. In fact for the second year in a row, our shelter has achieved the national gold standard by maintaining a 90%+ live release rate!

Animal welfare is all about partnerships. We partner with community veterinary clinics for spay/neuter and subsidized care for low-income families. We have formed an alliance with other regional shelters and rescue organizations for animal placement and advocacy at the state level, and with national animal welfare organizations in advocacy for all of our nation’s pets.

We are most grateful for our local community partners – the individual donors and volunteers who support the work we do every day. You are the ones who are helping us create a community where all pets are valued and treated with respect and compassion. Thank you for helping Make Happy Happen!

PET ADOPTIONS & PLACEMENT

Every effort is made to find the best home for each available pet. To find loving, permanent homes for shelter pets, staff and volunteers begin with a conversation. “My favorite part is seeing that moment happen when everything clicks between the (animal) and potential adopter,” volunteer Kim Archer explains. “There is a moment when you just know this is good, and things are going to work out.” Such was the case with Toy Chihuahua Mimi and Susan. Upon meeting, there was no doubt that the little darling, whose owner had sadly passed away, was getting her new beginning!

6,405 lost & abandoned pets placed
936 pets adopted off-site

REUNIONS

The Humane Society not only shelters and cares for lost pets, but we also personally escort owners through the kennels and cattery to search for their lost pet. What’s more, we provide resources such as posters and fliers to help in their search. Thanks to the power of microchipping, thousands of animals like Porter are able to make their way back home. The 10-year-old was the last return of 2016, and was all wiggles!

FOSTERING

Kittens and sometimes puppies and bunnies come to the shelter stray or abandoned, and are too young and fragile to be placed in permanent homes. With a foster family, these little ones receive special care and learn about the home environment. “The best part of fostering is the reward of watching my foster grow and thrive and find their forever home,” foster mom Linda Kurjah shares. “It’s not easy letting them go, but knowing you gave them everything they need to be a success in their new home is immeasurable.” We also foster those recovering from surgery, needing hospice care, and those who just need a break from the shelter environment prior to adoption.

1,137 pets were helped through fostering
• 42 puppies
• 573 kittens
• 318 neonates (4 weeks and younger)
• 5 nursing dog moms
• 70 nursing cat moms
• 105 nursing kittens
• 6 for hospice care
• 218 for medical or behavior therapy

VETERINARY CARE

The veterinary team treats ill or injured shelter pets at our in-house shelter clinic, radiology, and surgery rooms. Mimzy is one of many who came in needing expert help. Found to be limping on her right front foot, staff performed surgery, and now expect her fracture to heal completely! Animals with more serious conditions may also be taken to partner veterinary clinics for more extensive treatment.

3,622 pets received medical care
PETS FOR LIFE (PFL)

This grant-funded program helps build ongoing relationships between the Humane Society and pet owners living in low-income neighborhoods. Staff and volunteers canvass in under-served community areas to share pet resources, including free spay/neuter surgery vouchers, pet food, flea treatment, and pet supplies. David Albertson, PFL volunteer, is moved by, “seeing folks who really want to take better care of their pets and now know they can with our help.” He loves “knowing we are making friends for the shelter and making a difference in the community.”

33 pets vaccinated through PFL
589 pets altered through PFL

COMMUNITY PET CARE FUND

Low-income families can receive assistance with medical costs at community veterinary clinics. This helps keep families together, thus reducing shelter relinquishments for treatable medical issues.

540 pets were assisted through the Fund

PET FOOD PANTRY

The Humane Society’s food bank assists families struggling to make ends meet. By providing pet food and supplies, we’re here to help through the tough times. In addition, homebound seniors can receive monthly pet food deliveries through the Senior Pet Pantry. Volunteer Tara Fitzpatrick is weekly inspired by the work of “helping people and animals” in the Pet Food Pantry, a sentiment which speaks to our very mission of promoting “positive relationships between animals and people.”

1,076 pets helped per month by Pet Food Pantry & Senior Pet Pantry
LOW-COST SPAY/NEUTER

The Humane Society has several low-cost spay/neuter programs designed to serve the greatest number of pet owners. Among these is the Cinderella Fund, where pet owners are referred to participating veterinarians for surgery with a minimal copay. Cinderella volunteer Pamela Paton, who has been with the program for four years, joined up wanting “to help control pet overpopulation (euthanasia).” Like Pamela we are committed to maintaining the best outcomes for shelter pets, and will continue to provide the resources so that every pet owner has access to affordable spay/neuter surgery.

291 Cinderella vouchers used at partner clinics

COMMUNITY CATS

To ensure that unaltered community cats, sometimes called free roaming cats, do not contribute to overpopulation, neighborhood residents receive assistance to have cats humanely trapped, altered, vaccinated, and returned to their outdoor homes. Appreciating the importance of community cooperation, volunteer Toni Rice takes pleasure in “trapping feral (behaving) cats in good habitats (where) people (are) willing to provide shelter as well as food.”

418 cats helped through the Community Cat Program
DOG-A-THON

For 26 years, the Humane Society has hosted the Dog-A-Thon, a pet celebration and pledge walk that raises funds for food, shelter, veterinary care, rehabilitation from cruelty and neglect, and many other essential services for thousands of shelter pets.

In 2017, this premier pet event will take place on Saturday, July 22nd from 9:00 am to 2:00 pm at beautiful Fort Steilacoom Park. Bark your calendars!

VOLUNTEERS

Humane Society volunteers are vital to our organization. Whether they are petting, brushing, and playing with shelter cats during “Purr Time” sessions; engaging shelter dogs with Kong toys and other enrichment activities; or bathing and grooming dogs and cats to improve health and increase adoptability, our volunteers ease staff workload and provide care and comfort to thousands of animals. They’re also hard at work assisting with special events, administration, transportation, the list goes on! Volunteers like Roy Thalman often split their time between various roles. In his three years and during a total of 333 hours and counting, he’s assisted with “Bath Brigade, Pet Food Pantry, adoption packets, laundry, Dog-A-Thon, donation pickups, supply pickups, Trap Neuter Return cage setup, and (animal) transport driving.”

886 volunteers devoted 83,574 hours through 30 different volunteer positions, making possible:
- 765 Purr Time sessions
- 9,719 dog walks
- 1,554 dog & cat baths/grooming
TRANSPORTING DOGS, SAVING LIVES

When you hit a 90% or higher live release rate (the criteria for a no-kill shelter), people take notice. Upon reaching this gold standard, the Humane Society has been invited to rescue animals from other states whose shelters are packed full. The animals we receive last only minutes on our floor, as they’re incredibly adoptable.

Wonder how we’re able to do it? As Board Member and transport volunteer Amanda Loewen sums up, it’s “thanks to a community that has embraced the concept of adoption and importance of spay/neuter efforts in addition to microchipping. With fewer unwanted litters entering our doors and more lost pets being reunited with their families, we now have the additional intake capacity. As fortunate as we are though, other communities in the country are not. Alleviating overcrowded shelters that still euthanize for space not only saves lives, but it also allows us to bring a different selection of animals to our community.”

We literally could not do this life-saving work without your full support~thank you! It makes our hearts full to be among the Washington shelters and rescues that give the gift of happily ever afters to animals all over the country.
