#PREPAREDNOTSCARED: DO YOU HAVE A PLAN FOR YOU AND YOUR PETS?

TACOMA, WA – Living in Washington means many of us are surrounded by the natural beauty that the Pacific Northwest has to offer. It also means we face risks of earthquakes, flooding, and more. If disaster strikes, are you and your pets prepared?

National Disaster Preparedness Month is recognized each September by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) as an opportunity to promote “family and community disaster and emergency planning now and throughout the year.”

While many of us consider ourselves and our families when planning for disasters or emergencies, we must not forget our furry companions. According to the ASPCA, 62% of Americans have pets but 1 in 3 owners are not sure of what to do with their pets in the event of an emergency.

In addition to supplies for human family members, we recommend creating a travel bag for your pets. This can include:

- At least seven days’ worth of bottled water for each person and pet
- 3-7 days’ worth of food
- Litter or paper towels
- Disposable garbage bags
- Pet feeding dishes and water bowls
- Extra collars, harnesses, and leashes
- Blankets
- A sturdy crate or carrier, ideally one per pet
- Recent photos of your pets (in case you’re separated and need to make “Lost” posters)
- Copies of medical records

Ensuring your pets are microchipped and the microchip has your most up to date information, getting a rescue alert sticker for your home, and arranging a safe haven for your pets in the event of evacuation are more ways you can be prepared. In the event of a disaster, we strongly urge all pet owners to never leave your pets behind!
