King of Cats

Berry was born to be a bookstore cat. The big Tom had been living a rough life on the streets, but once he came to the Humane Society, he made it clear he would prefer a life of leisure. He loves people, craves attention, and tolerates just about anything. So when the owner of King's Books came to the shelter looking for a new store cat, Berry was an easy choice.

While the handsome Tuxedo's first two weeks at the independent bookstore involved much hiding among bookcases, he quickly warmed up and made himself right at home. And the bookworms are just eating him up.

During their "Name That Cat!" contest, more than 200 entries were submitted to King's Books. It was difficult to choose, but soon Berry was crowned "Herbert" as an homage to Tacoma-based author Frank Herbert, most known for the Dune saga.

Herbert has cultivated quite a following on social media, and in the store he is just as popular. He roams the shelves, greeting everyone and offering an affectionate presence. If a customer happens to sit down, Herbert quickly claims their lap for as long as possible. As shop owner sweet pea Flaherty says, "Customers are trapped by his warmth and companionship."

The tradition of bookstore cats dates back centuries, and is represented today by Herbert and his in-store cat companion, Atticus. Both are rescue cats who have made their way into the hearts of local book lovers of all ages.

Jan McIlroy 1933 - 2015

2015 saw the passing of local Humane Society pioneer, Jan McIlroy. As a board member in 1991, she wasn't satisfied with the incremental decline in pet euthanasia each year. The board and staff were working hard to encourage spay/neuter, but that year 30,000 animals entered the shelter and only 28% were reunited with owners or placed in homes.

Jan convinced the board it was time to attack the problem from various angles. She and a fellow board member created the Total Impact Plan to Significantly Reduce Pet Euthanasia. The plan created a low-cost spay/neuter program, educational outreach, a higher license fee for unaltered pets, mandatory spay/neuter the second time a roaming pet was brought to the shelter, and a ban on selling or giving away pets in public places.

Together, these revolutionary programs set the stage for dramatic changes. Just five years later, the "save rate" had increased to 40%. Today, the Humane Society maintains a save rate of 90% and achieves the best possible outcome for every pet we receive.

We know that our success is due to the hard work of countless animal advocates who came before, and especially to those early visionaries like Jan.

Cheney

When the Humane Society's Volunteer Coordinator, Alex, was attending an event at Cheney Stadium last summer, she found something unexpected. As she walked to her car, an emaciated cat ran out from the weeds behind the parking lot. He began rubbing up against her and meowing loudly. Of course, she scooped him up and brought him to the shelter.

The sweet tabby was severely malnourished, dehydrated, covered with sores and nearly bald from a flea allergy. It was amazing that he had survived, since he was also found to be declawed!

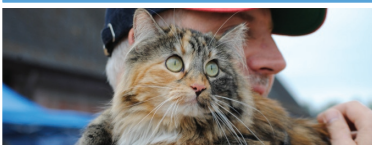

After a gentle bath, he ate two bowls

Cheney, before and after.

of food and fell promptly asleep. A volunteer took him home to foster for six weeks, where he gained five pounds and most of his hair. When he returned for adoption, it only took a few hours before someone fell for his charm and he left the shelter for a new life.

The Humane Society for Tacoma and Pierce County 2015 ANNUAL REPORT

From the President

On behalf of the Board of Directors, I am pleased to present our 2015 Annual Report. I hope you will join us in celebrating our successes and rejoicing in the thousands of animals helped through Humane Society programs.

Behind the many numbers you will see are individual animals whose lives have been transformed by the work of the Humane Society: abused or neglected dogs who have been rehabilitated and placed in loving homes, lost cats who have been reunited with their owners, orphaned kittens who were rescued and nurtured back to health. Each number is a story, and each story is made possible through your generous support.

Thank you so much for giving homeless animals the chance they need, and helping to create a compassionate community for animals and people.

Chad Osvog
President, Board of Directors

From the Executive Director

It has been an exciting, eventful year for animals in Pierce County. In 2015, we achieved a life-saving rate of 90%, and every animal in our care received the best possible outcome!

Over the past few decades, there has been a steady decrease in pet overpopulation. This means we no longer receive thousands of puppies and kittens in need of a home. While the number of homeless pets has decreased, the animals in transition at the shelter now often require more resources before they can move to new homes.

Increasingly, the pets in our care require medical treatment or behavior therapy before they can be adopted. They may be geriatric dogs, unsocial cats or nursing kittens. But we are committed to doing whatever is necessary to give these pets the best possible life and the best possible outcome.

Because we no longer receive an abundance of puppies and kittens, we have been reaching out to other shelters who need our help. Through organizations like Wings of Rescue, we are taking in a small number of young, healthy, friendly dogs who need nothing more than a loving home. They are usually adopted within a day or two. We are happy to be in a position to offer hope to these animals from overcrowded facilities outside our area, while we continue to take care of pets from our own community who need special help before they can be adopted.

We are grateful for our generous, compassionate community for supporting the work we do, and helping us create a community where all pets are treated with respect and compassion. Thank you for all you do for animals!

2015 ANNUAL REPORT

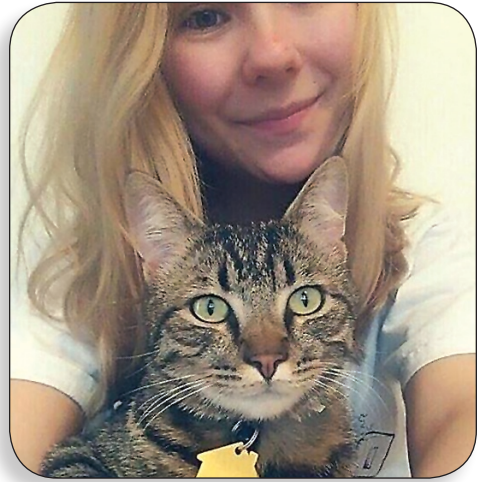

Finding Homes for Shelter Pets

Dillon came to the Humane Society last November after he was hit by a car. His leg was badly fractured, and had to be amputated, but he healed quickly and had no trouble getting around on three legs.

By February he was ready for a new home, and that's when Marissa and her boyfriend stopped by the shelter. As soon as Marissa reached into his cage to pet him, he began purring loudly.

She instantly fell in love, and barely even noticed his missing leg. She took Dillon home, and later wrote to tell us he was the "perfect cat" and "the best Valentine's gift ever!"

In 2015, the Humane Society found loving homes for 6,342 lost and abandoned pets, giving them the chance for a new start and enriching the lives of their new owners. 852 pets were adopted through local PetSmart and Petco stores, as well as Metropolitan Veterinary Hospital and other off-site venues. 624 pets found homes after being transferred to other animal welfare organizations. In addition, 115 feral or under-socialized cats were placed with owners in rural areas as "barn cats," and 282 were altered and returned to an existing cat colony.

Reuniting Lost Pets with Owners

Last year, the Humane Society reunited 1,892 lost pets with their owners, including little Top. His owner, Kendra, returned home one day to find her house had been burglarized and her little dog missing. She was frantic to find him, and immediately rushed to the Humane Society. When she saw him curled on a bed in one of the kennels, she burst into tears. Top had been her friend since she was ten years old, and she was overjoyed to find him safe and sound. "I didn't care if they took everything I had," she said. "I just wanted Top back!"

2015 ANNUAL REPORT

Caring for Shelter Pets

When pets enter the shelter, we do everything we can to reduce their stress and keep them comfortable. Dogs have raised beds, blankets, Kong toys filled with treats, daily walks, and are bathed and groomed as needed. They may also receive basic obedience lessons with “clicker training,” which helps them focus and anticipate rewards for calm behavior. Cats have soft bedding, roomy enclosures with separate litterbox access, toys, privacy when needed, and petting and play sessions called “Purr Time.” Multiple cats can stay in our Petunia Louise Community Cat Room, where they can roam, climb, play, and lounge in the sunlight while awaiting adoption.

▲ 1,077 shelter pets were nurtured in volunteer foster homes. They were recovering from medical or behavior issues, were too young for adoption, needed a hospice home, or were awaiting adoption.

◀ 525 cats enjoyed petting, brushing, and play-time with volunteers during “Purr Time” sessions. Volunteers also took 5,966 dogs for walks and held 181 Behavior Assessments.

1,741 shelter pets were bathed and groomed, and more than 4,000 received medical treatment. ➤

2015 ANNUAL REPORT

Improving the Lives of Community Pets

Our mission to “promote positive relationships between animals and people” means that we want to do everything possible to help keep pets with their owners, and to ensure they are safe and cared for in their homes. The Senior Pet Pantry delivers pet food to house-bound seniors who might otherwise be unable to keep their pets. Teams of volunteers canvass under-served neighborhoods to help with pet problems, and offer free spay/neuter vouchers and vaccines. Pet owners who cannot afford vital veterinary care can also be assisted. Working together, we are creating a compassionate community where every pet is safe and loved.

560 pet owners in under-served neighborhoods received assistance; 734 pets were vaccinated; and 611 were spayed or neutered through the Pets for Life program.

5,593 families received help feeding their pets through the Pet Food Bank and Senior Pet Pantry.

1,264 pets received assistance with the cost of veterinary care through the Community Pet Care Fund.

Eliminating Pet Overpopulation

Through Low-Cost Spay/Neuter

Low-cost spay and neuter surgeries have been the key to dramatically reducing pet overpopulation over the years. We are committed to maintaining zero euthanasia of adoptable pets, and will continue to provide the resources so that every pet owner has access to affordable spay & neuter surgery.

2,650 pets belonging to low-income owners were spayed or neutered last year through a variety of programs, including the Cinderella Fund, Spay Day promotions, the “Responsi-bull” program for altering Pit Bulls, and free vouchers given to cat owners who brought kittens to the shelter.

2015 ANNUAL REPORT

Celebrating Pets

and Raising Funds for Shelter Programs

Every summer for the past 25 years, pet owners from all over Western Washington gather to walk their dogs and raise pledges for the Humane Society. From a small walk raising $150, the event has grown each year, attracting more walkers, and more donations – all to help homeless pets. Funds from the Dog-A-Thon support programs that provide veterinary care for shelter pets, enrich their experience while at the shelter, and help them find permanent, loving homes.

$303,000 was raised at the Humane Society's 2015 Walk for Homeless Pets, and thousands of people and their pets celebrated the joys of pet ownership.

Engaging Volunteers

to Meet Our Mission

Humane Society volunteers work hard to improve the lives of homeless animals. Whether they are assembling adoption packets, delivering pet food to a house-bound senior, or staffing a vaccine clinic, our volunteers ease staff workload and provide care and comfort to thousands of shelter pets.

Last year, 631 volunteers gave 75,742 hours to help homeless animals, working at 27 different volunteer positions.

Providing Humane Solutions

for Community Cats

734 feral or free-roaming strays were humanely trapped, altered, and returned to their outdoor homes in 2015.

With gratitude, we also recognize the generous individuals who contributed at the "Members" giving level in 2015. In addition, we thank all those who supported the Society by participating in Dog-A-Thon 2015, or by donating a vehicle, participating in workplace giving programs, giving something extra in donation boxes, or donating pet food and supplies to the shelter. On behalf of our board of directors, staff, volunteers, and the animals in our care, the Humane Society thanks you!
